Last night, town board member Mike Ivino cast the deciding vote to cancel the Saugerties gun show. That decision will cost him most of the votes that put him in office.

In 2019, Ivino ran on term limits and cleaning up Saugerties. Mike folded on term limits almost immediately. Then he wanted to pursue Fred Costello for unethical mileage claims and expenses once on the board, but that all went away too. He was also very vocal about runaway spending by Chief of Police Joe Sinagra and Cantine Superintendent Greg Chorvas. Mike had big plans that he shared at the Saugerties Republican committee meetings, but instead he now spends his time with the very same people he targeted only 2 years ago.

Recently Ivino was questioned by supporters and claimed he might have to register as a Democrat as they have the numbers. In the 2023 election, Ivino will have marginal support from the Democrats and very little elsewhere. Remember how Mike voted last night in 2023, Saugerties deserves better!
