THIS ELECTION DAY, WE HAVE A CHOICE.

My opponent wants to tell you what my stance is when it comes to reproductive healthcare. But on those issues, no one should ever speak for another woman.

I govern by listening, and I know how sensitive this issue is for everyone, which is why I voted for the Equal Rights Amendment, to take politicians out of the equation, and put the decision where it belongs—directly in the hands of the voters.

My record in support of women is a strong one and that won't ever change. That's why I'm focused on ensuring safe streets and schools, creating opportunities, and bringing costs down.

I want our community to be a place where young people can afford to start their lives and our seniors can afford to stay and enjoy all they've helped build. If you trust me with your vote, together we will get our state back on track.
